

PATTY FERRANT: ...best buy and every person in here said B.

They said B was the best buy. I'll put this back. Every person in here said B was the best buy. And these are some things people wrote: "Plan B provides the most minutes for a good price." "Second cheapest and second best minutes." "Low price, more minutes." "Reasonable amount of minutes and suitable cost." So these were things that people said -- they were trying to justify or prove why they knew it was Plan B. Everybody in here said Plan B.

You know that we're always trying to prove things on the graph. I saw someone do this. I want to know how does this strategy help us prove Plan B is the best buy. So just think in your head, try to make sense of this, connect what we have been doing with distance and time graphs.

Just think in your head -- I don't want anyone talking yet. Don't say a thing yet. Just think in your head. If you can't see it, feel free to get out of your seat and go look closer. If you can't see. I want to know how does that strategy prove Plan B is the best buy. Connect to what we've been doing with distance-time graphs.