

PATTY FERRANT: You are not stepping it up yet, it's interesting. Isn't this week three already? Okay, so we're listening, trying to make sense.

Give me a thumbs up if you also think five is the tallest. Thumbs down if you disagree. In the middle if you are not sure or you want to add on to that.

So I see lots of people say, "Yes, five is the tallest," but I see these middle thumbs also. So remember I'm talking about precision of language farther along. Are we okay with that? Farther along to the...right? We're just trying to be very explicit and precise in our language.
