

PATTY FERRANT: You ready? Put your pencils down.

Okay, actually look over there. So do you see those two posters? Take one minute to, by yourselves, in your heads, silently look at those two posters. Think about the vocab. These are called anchor posters, and it is anchoring our understanding from what happened yesterday. So these are some things that came up yesterday -- some vocabulary that helped us speak as mathematicians.

So this is a resource for us in this class. During the year we will have anchor posters throughout this whole class and those will be a resource for you to always refer to. All right, give me a thumbs up if you feel like, "Yeah, I think I'm going to...I got pretty good with those dot talks. I think I can get it." Middle is up...
