

Thursday Closure:

CATHY HUMPHRYES: So I have to check the clock and we have six minutes until the bell rings. So here is what, how you can decide what...I would like to have your posters up even if they are not finished, so feel free to put them on top of any other poster in the room or anywhere on a white board. Excuse me guys. And you also need to...I do want to have these papers again. So individual work that you did yesterday, staple together and clap together by the table. I need these cards to be turned in and everything needs to be cleaned up. Alright, so you could do that at your leisure, whatever you need to do to get it done.

Thank you for your good work today. So um, as soon as your table – if you were not tardy, you will be excused as soon as your table is clean and your chairs are pushed in. See you tomorrow.
