BARBARA SHREVE: ...like that, it's going to look like that, going to look like that. I want you to choose, okay? Not being sure of the numbers. Oh, they ring it two minutes early. Hang on one second. Ladies and gentlemen, can I say one thing? Please, before you pack up, I know you need to go but can you stay put for one minute? Get shorter Terrence, please. Thank you. Okay, I don't want to keep you long but I thought I had two more minutes that I was going to use, so I won't use them all. I really, really appreciate your hard work today. Spaldo, I need you to listen. I really appreciate your hard work today and I like seeing the kinds of conversations that you're having about what matches and why. So I saw some really good work in your teams and some good thinking about these weird things as I tried to trick you in as many ways as I could think of. Thank you. I need you to do two things for me. I need you to make sure that you leave this here with your name on it. Lots of people weren't writing their names when I came around. If you need your notebook for Algebra B, you can take it. If you don't, I would love you to leave it so I can take a look at those over the break, please. Make sure you're catching up on any Algebra B homework that you missed over the break, and have a great one.
